Message from Paul McCullough, Interim President of British Columbia Institute of Technology

The Masters of Digital Media effectively combines academic and practical experience to provide career outcomes – a perfect fit for the BCIT model of education.

With strong industry ties, the program is continually evolving to reflect both the local and international digital media industry. Combined with the strong dedication and passion of the Faculty, four academic partner institutions and all those involved in the program, students of this program are continually pushing to higher levels and producing high quality work.

Sincerely,
