Emily Carr University of Art + Design is proud to be a partner in the Centre for Digital Media, a remarkable model for collaboration and innovation.

The CDM successfully blends artistic inquiry, industry partnership and experiential learning, and produces alumni who are uniquely equipped with both creative vision and in-demand skills. Graduates of the Master of Digital Media program are making tremendous contributions to the creative industries in British Columbia and beyond, and are inspiring the next generation of students to envision a bold future of endless possibilities.

Yours truly,
